

ASIA PACIFIC FAMILY MEDICINE JOURNAL ANNUAL REPORT (OCT. 2018 TO MAY. 2019) AND PROPOSAL

REPORT

A. APFM journal reform

See Annex 1 APFM journal Reform

B. Published articles, Oct., 2018-May., 2019 (articles for three months)

1. Practices related to sharps disposal among diabetic patients in Sri Lanka
K. R. Atukorala, S. I. Wickramasinghe, R. D. N. Sumanasekera and K. H. Wickramasinghe
Asia Pacific Family Medicine 2018 17:12
2. An analysis of qualitative and mixed methods abstracts from Japanese, UK and US primary care conferences
Makoto Kaneko, Takuya Aoki, Ryuichi Ohta, Machiko Inoue and Rakesh N. Modi
Asia Pacific Family Medicine 2018 17:11
3. The Indonesian general practitioners' perspectives on formal postgraduate training in primary care
Fitriana Murriya Ekawati, Mora Claramita, Wahyudi Istiono, Hari Kusnanto and Adi Heru Sutomo
Asia Pacific Family Medicine 2018 17:10

PROPOSAL

A. Lyn Clearihan award

- (1) The winner in 2019

Preparatory graduate professional training in general practice by using the 'experiential learning' framework

Mora Claramita, Fitriana Murriya Ekawati, Aghnaa Gayatri, Wahyudi Istiono, Adi Heru Sutomo, Hari Kusnanto and Mark Alan Graber

Asia Pacific Family Medicine 2018 17:4

See Annex 2 Papers evaluated for 2017-2018(evaluation sheet)

(2) Selection mechanism

The award is not given to the author but to the article or research.

“The award acts as a certificate of recognition for excellent original research(es) published by author(s) in Asia Pacific Family Medicine journal”

The editor-in-chief wants to propose two options of selection mechanism of the award from 2020.

- (a) The same winner can get it anytime.
- (b) The winner cannot get it next time.

B. Publisher and monetary request

See ANNEX 3 Publisher of the Asia Pacific Family Medicine journal (UGM)

C. Assistants editors

See ANNEX 4 Board Members (Assistant Editors) list

SUBMITTED BY:

Yousuke Takemura, MD, PhD

(editor-in-chief)